University of Pittsburgh Off Campus Housing Guide

Separated into several unique neighborhoods, Pittsburgh carries its weight in giving off a smaller city vibe of community and character. Oakland, located just east of downtown, is one of the more lively and energetic areas. Generally full of a younger population, it is home to the 230-year-old University of Pittsburgh and its students. The university has established its prominence in the neighborhood with its students not far behind. While public transportation allows students the freedom to live throughout the city, the majority of students seeking Pitt off-campus housing look no further than Oakland. Houses for rent in Oakland are in high demand, but an overview of Pitt off-campus housing will give you the tools you need to score a great place.

Pitt Off-Campus Housing:

- The search for houses and apartments near Pitt can be competitive, so it's best to not leave it until the last minute. It's not uncommon to start looking for housing for the fall semester as early as the spring.

Where Should I live?

How you get to the Pitt campus is a major consideration when choosing a neighborhood in which to live. Whether you plan to walk, drive, or take public transportation, there are many options to suit your needs. Many Katz students live in Oakland, Squirrel Hill, Shadyside, and Regent Square.

Here are some useful resources to utilize when deciding which neighborhood to live in:

Tips for Off-Campus Housing:

- Keep an open mind. Oakland is a neighborhood with deep roots and a rich history, as is made evident by the wear-and-tear on many of the houses. Houses and apartments near Pitt may not be five-star quality, but they certainly don't lack character.
- Use your connections. Know someone with an awesome off-campus place? Ask for their landlord's number and call him directly. There are tons of houses for rent in Oakland, and contacting the landlord to ask about their available properties is one of the best ways to go about finding one.
- Looking for the party? Busier roads like Atwood Street and Semple Street boast a lively balance of Pitt off campus housing and bars/restaurants. Need to cut down on the study distractions? Quieter areas like Oakland Avenue and South Bouquet Street are just as close to campus and offer plenty of housing options as well.
- Consider the availability of a parking spot. Some houses and apartments near Pitt include a parking space in the monthly rent, which can eliminate the search for a coveted spot on the street. If your dream place doesn't come with a spot, check sites like Craigslist. Property owners offer individual parking spaces for rent in Oakland throughout the year.

University of Pittsburgh Resources:

University-owned the University owns several hundred affordable and well-maintained apartments that are available to undergraduate students and graduate students. Local Subletting:

Lots of students temporarily vacate their houses and apartments near Pitt in favor of a sunny study abroad location or a summer at home, so Pitt sublets are always available. It's common to find a slew of sublet posts on Cribspot. Subletting is a great way to experience Oakland without committing to a lease, and often rent can be negotiated or split with the original tenant.

Pitt Subletting by the #s:

- Sublets average price: $751.07/Room
- Average beds in sublet: 1.65
- Most common bedroom #: 1-Bed
- Most popular month for posting sublets: April

General Tips for Pitt Subletting:

*Information included in this guide has been pulled from multiple University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, and community resources. Including but not limited to cribspot.com

- Provide as much information on Cribspot about your sublet as possible. A post with description, photos, and details on pricing and availability is much more likely to receive an inquiry than one without much information.
- If you find that no one is really responding to your post, consider bringing down the price as others might be offering lower prices. Do your research so you don't end up pricing your leaky shack for $1000 per month.
